

JOSH PRINCE

Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania for Justice

Christian Leinbach

Berks County Commissioner and Chairman of the Board of the County Commissioners Association of PA

“Josh Prince's record before the PA Commonwealth Court is solid. Of the 10 most recent cases Josh argued before the PA Commonwealth Court, he won 8 and the two remaining are pending. When it comes to the appellate courts, Josh argued an amazing 45 cases since 2009.

Josh is also a champion of liberty and takes on the cases that prove it. From Second Amendment rights to the right to keep a business open during Gov. Wolf's 'lockdown' of PA, Josh has been there standing up for our rights. His firm's successful defense of the 'Taste of Sicily' in October of 2020 is just one example.

Josh Prince is an attorney that puts principles first and he is just the kind of judge we need in the PA Commonwealth Court. He is not only right on the issues, he is willing to stand up and defend those principles in a court of law. It's all about a record and Josh has a strong and clear common sense conservative record.”

Prince had this to say about the endorsement:

“Commissioner Leinbach is a champion who embodies the integral role that elected officials play in local government. Leinbach excels at addressing the pressing issues that impact Berks County residents, while empowering other County Commissioners to do the same in his long-standing leadership role with the National Association of Counties and County Commissioners Association of PA.

I'm deeply honored to receive Commissioner Leinbach's endorsement, and am grateful for his acknowledgement of my record of victories on behalf of Pennsylvanians. I look forward to continuing a record of achievement in upholding the Constitution, and ensuring that all Pennsylvanians have access to the relief that the judiciary provides with due process as a Commonwealth Court Judge.”
